Introduction

This book presents four short adventures for Old-School Essentials, each crafted by a leading old-school writer. PCs' search for gold and glory will take them from disease-ridden sewers and bejeweled vaults, to sinister temples and to the deep void of space.

Old-School Essentials

The referee will require a copy of Old-School Essentials to run this adventure. The Classic Fantasy and Advanced Fantasy flavors work equally well. Alternatively, the classic Basic/Expert game or other derived rule set may be used.

The Jeweler's Sanctum

*A level 1–3 dungeon adventure
by Giuseppe Rotondo.*

The secret workshop of a long-dead jeweler-magician is now open, as his grandson wants the place finally cleared of all dangers. What treasures might remain within, and what might be watching over them?

Curse of the Maggot God

*A level 2–3 sewer adventure
by Glynn Seal.*

PCs plumb fetid sewers and recently-revealed secret halls, in search of a lost worker. In these forsaken chambers, they may find answers and treasures, but may also come face-to-face with a bloated monstrosity and its depraved followers.

The Sunbathers

*A level 3 temple incursion adventure
by Brad Kerr.*

In a golden temple of healing on a sundrenched island, blissful amnesiac patients are held prisoner by monstrous caretakers. Intruding PCs will need their wits and their swords to unravel the temple's secrets, snatch its treasures, and escape.

The Comet That Time Forgot

*A level 9+ hex-crawl adventure
by D. M. Wilson and Sarah Brunt.*

A portal leads adventurers to a comet of fire and ice hurtling through the void of space. Can they survive prehistoric beasts, warring factions, and the comet's impending doom, to find priceless treasures and a way home?

The Jeweler's Sanctum

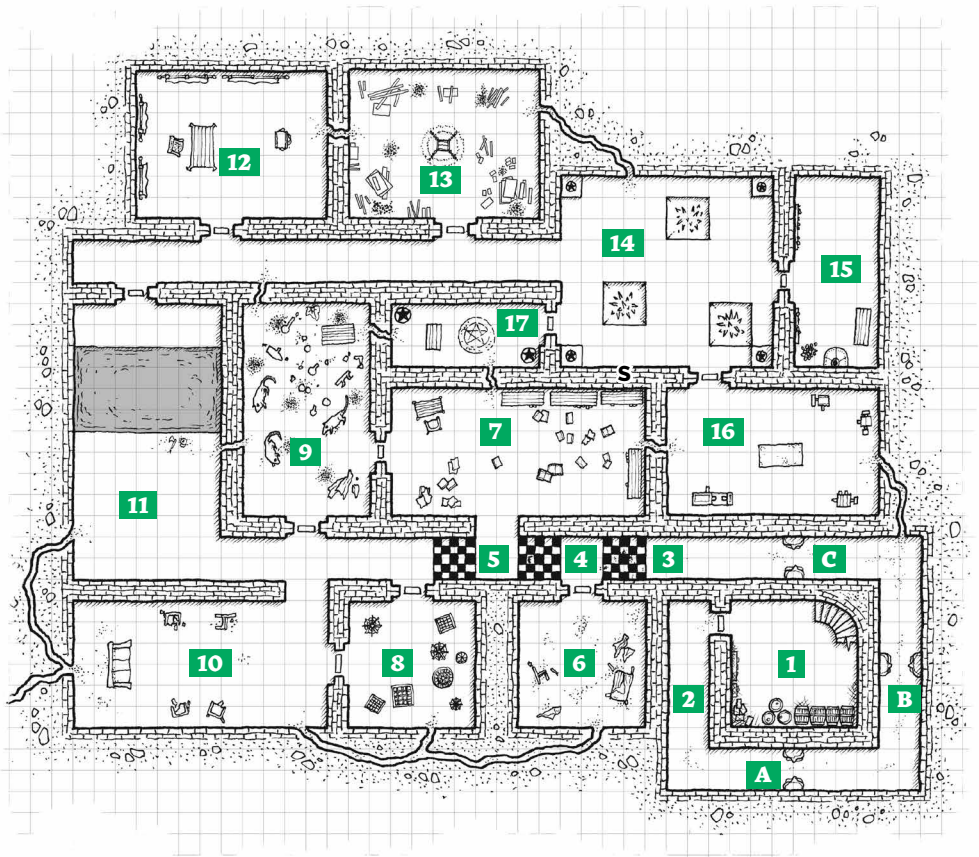

BY GIUSEPPE ROTONDO

J ESEM, GRANDSON OF THE RENOWNED jeweler-magician Draxas, is troubled by inexplicable sounds from his grandfather's sealed laboratory below the old family mansion: scratching, squeaking, giggling, screaming, even a humming tune.

He has posted a notice of "ADVENTURERS WANTED" to enter the laboratory and clear out the lingering dangers. As the family's fortune has been depleted, Jesem can offer no reward, but allows explorers to keep any treasures they find in the laboratory. He believes it still contains piles of gold ingots and precious stones—in addition to deadly traps and magical guardians placed to deter thieves.

Three days ago a dwarf adventurer named Orrick ventured inside; after about an hour he screamed, didn't answer Jesem's calls, and never reemerged...

If starting a new campaign: The PCs may be strangers who all replied to Jesem's notice and agreed to venture into the laboratory together.

Denizens

FIGMENT OF JORRANDA

A thief who broke into the laboratory during Draxas's lifetime and was killed by his pet tarantella. A spectral figment of her last moments haunts the halls.

Manifestation: When rolled as a random happening (p.5), the spectral image Jorranda appears in Area 5 and proceeds to recreate the last moments of her life. A faint light and sobbing can be perceived from nearby rooms as she moves through the dungeon: she sneakily moves to Area 7, then passes through the wall where the secret passage is. In Area 14 she mimics a fight with an invisible opponent, screams as if wounded and falls into the northernmost pit, then disappears. PCs cannot interact with the figment. If PCs are too far to see the ghostly light, they will hear her sobbing and her death scream from Area 14.

MORLAN

Draxas's former apprentice, a greedy and treacherous man. Morlan tried to loot the laboratory following his master's death, but was caught in one of Draxas's traps—a magical mirror (Area 8).

GUARDIANS

Draxas's pet tarantella spider is magically bound to Area 14, though is bored and yearns to leave. Magically animated iron statues mindlessly guard the enchantment workshop in Area 17.

VERMIN

In the decades in which the laboratory has remained sealed up, giant rats and centipedes have tunneled into Area 10 and now roam throughout. Skis the Rat Queen rules the rodents, having gained sentience by accidentally putting on one of Draxas's magic rings. She believes she reigns over the laboratory and all within.

General Notes

CONSTRUCTION

Limestone blocks. Damp. Dust, cobwebs, rat droppings. Giant rats and centipedes have burrowed small ($\frac{1}{2}$ ' or less) tunnels through the walls, allowing them to scuttle through most rooms.

LIGHTING

Apart from magical lighting in Draxas's inner workshop (Areas 14–17), the laboratory is unlit.

10. The Queen's Parlor

Skiks the Rat Queen lounges on a dusty sofa, welcomes visitors, proclaims the dungeon as her domain and demands tributes. Ornate gold bowl (800gp) beside her, with gnawed bones. 5 giant rats (hp: 2, 2, 2, 3, 4—stats on p.8) standing to attention, awaiting the Queen's orders. Ruined armchairs.

- Behind the sofa: ½' tunnel, the source of the rat infestation.

RING OF IMBECILITY

A golden ring with a unicorn's head.

Cursed: INT becomes 3, unable to voluntarily remove the ring.

If worn by an animal: Grants sentience and the ability to speak Common. (Inventive players might give it to their dog, or find other clever uses).

11. The Pool

Pool of murky water, occasionally bubbling: 15' deep, water level is 1' below the floor. Dead dwarf face down at the bottom of the pool, clothes, backpack, and plate armor partially dissolved, horrid wounds like scalds. Beside the pool: broken lantern, axe.

- In the dwarf's backpack: 2 oil flasks, crowbar, rope, 170gp, clan medallion (100gp).
- Examining the water: 5 grey oozes can be spotted, floating.

Tapestries of astrological diagrams. Floral embroidered chair. Wooden table carved with spider-like legs: tall, colored candles, bone flute (20gp), glove of curse detection. A gargoyle-like granite lectern holds the Tome of Black and White Doom.

GREY OOZES

Energy immunity: Unharmed by cold or fire.

GLOVE OF CURSE DETECTION

A purple silk glove with embroidered "rings" around the fingers, in silver.

Cursed rings: If the wearer wears a cursed ring over the glove, it whimpers in pain. The wearer can safely remove the ring.

Each use: 1-in-6 chance of crumbling to dust after each use (the ring remains on the finger).

TOME OF BLACK AND WHITE DOOM

A weighty tome bound in checkered patches of white unicorn fur and black warp beast fur.

Arcane casters: May use the tome to halve the cost of creating magical checkerboard floor traps via the Magical Research rules.

13. Magic-Suppressing Circle

Piles of corroded metal: rods, sheets, and flakes. A small iron casket, locked, chained to the floor in the middle of a circle of glowing purple salt, 8' wide.

- Effects of the circle: Suppresses all magic inside.
- Inside the casket: Note reading “Morlan: hands off!”, signed by Draxas, and 5 defective rings. All are cursed, but won’t work while within the circle. Once worn, cursed rings cannot be removed. Curse (and ring) can be removed by magic (e.g. remove curse).

DEFECTIVE RINGS

Ring Form	Curse
Gold serpent	–2 AC.
Silver waves	Bad luck, –2 to all saves.
Bronze star	Nightmares disturb the character's sleep. Healing from rest is halved.
Lead bands	No magic item works for the character. Cursed items are not affected!
Brass vine	Daylight imposes –2 to attack rolls.

14. The Hairy Guardian

Ceiling glows with continual light. Four silver statues of girls playing flutes (250gp each), 2' tall, on plinths in the corners. A tarantella is magically bound inside the room, humming a cheerful tune, wearing a silver collar (100gp). Open pits 10' wide, 15' deep, iron spikes at the bottom.

- ▶ Removing the collar or statues: The tarantella becomes free to leave the room. She won't pursue if she has a victim to eat; giant rats and centipedes are as good as adventurers.
- ▶ Singing or playing music: Makes the tarantella friendly for 1d6 turns, also ends the effect of her bite.
- ▶ Dancing characters: 2-in-6 chance every round of falling into a random pit.
- ▶ Falling into a pit: 1d6 falling damage + 1d6 damage from spikes.
- ▶ Inside northernmost pit: Skeleton in rags, rusty sword, ruined thief tools. The Figment of Jorranda (see Random Happenings) can be put to rest by burying her remains in a proper tomb. Characters who do so dream of spending a night at a tavern with the cheerful Jorranda, who buys them all drinks and teaches them a sleight-of-hand trick. DEX permanently increases by 1.
- ▶ Secret door to Area 7: Opened by a button on the plinth under the south-west statue.

TARANTELLA

Bored to death, hungry, cannot leave. Attacks immediately, in order to eat.

AC 5 [14], HD 4' (18hp), Att 1 × bite (1d8 + poison), THACO 16 [+3], MV 120' (40'), SV D12 W13 P14 B15 S16 (2), ML 8, AL Neutral, XP 125

Poison: SAVE VERSUS POISON or dance for 2d6 turns (suffering from painful, jerking spasms that resemble a macabre dance).

Onlookers: Viewers of one affected by the poison must SAVE VERSUS SPELLS or begin dancing in the same fashion, for as long as the poisoned victim.

Dancing: Those affected suffer a -4 penalty to attack rolls and AC. After 5 turns of dancing, they become exhausted: fall to the ground, helpless.

15. Jewelry Workshop

Ceiling glows with continual light. Murals depict efreet forging metals. Heap of coal beside a small forge. Jeweler's tools (tongs, pliers, files) arranged on wall racks. Oak workbench: crystal crucible, 2 rings with precious stones (1,000gp each), 10 small ingots: 3 gold (40gp each), 5 silver (4gp each), 2 platinum (400gp each).

CRYSTAL CRUCIBLE

A small crystal cup, wondrously faceted and engraved with magical sigils.

Arcane casters: May use the crucible to halve the cost of creating magical rings and amulets via the Magical Research rules.

SILVER SPINNER

A small instrument to weave metal.

Arcane casters: May use the spinner to halve the chance of failure when creating magical rings and amulets via the Magical Research rules.

16. Gem Cutting Workshop

Ceiling glows with continual light. Murals depict xorns unearthing crystals. Pedal-operated machines for grinding, cutting, and polishing stone. Granite workbench: silver spinner, 37 uncut gems (80gp each), small iron key for the casket in Area 13. 7 giant centipedes (hp: 1, 1, 2, 2, 3, 4, 4—stats on p.9) scuttle beneath the workbench.

17. Enchantment Workshop

Ceiling glows with continual light. Murals depict jewels being infused with lunar and solar emanations. Silver magic circle inlaid in floor. 2 living iron statues of muscular men armed with great swords. Table: Tome of Looping Enchantments, ruby ring of fire resistance, paper envelope labeled “For my grandson Jesem”.

- Entering the room: A voice booms out from the 2 statues: “Show us the seal of approval!”. Unless shown one of Draxas’ jade medallions (see Areas 8 and 9), they animate and attack intruders.
- Inside the envelope: A ring of protection.

After the Adventure

A group that rids the dungeon of all sources of noise (Morlan, Jorranda, Kkiks and her rats, Tarantella), or gives Jesem the envelope from Area 17, will be contacted by Jesem a few days later. He is happy to give them an old tome with Draxas’s seal. Written in a language JESEM cannot understand, it may contain a treasure map, spells, or clues to another adventure.

LIVING IRON STATUES

AC 2 [17], HD 4 (hp 15, 22), Att 2 × sword (1d8), THACO 16 [+3], MV 30' (10'), SV D10 W11 P12 B13 S14 (4), ML 11, AL Neutral, XP 75

Immunity: Unaffected by sleep spells.

Absorb metals: Hits with non-magical, metal weapons cause damage, but the weapon may become stuck in the statue (SAVE VERSUS SPELLS). Stuck weapons can be removed if the statue is killed.

TOME OF LOOPING ENCHANTMENTS

A slim volume, bound in scintillating djinni skin.

Arcane casters: Used in conjunction with the crystal crucible (Area 15) and the silver spinner (Area 16), allows a character of any level to create magic rings and amulets via the Magical Research rules.

Research failure: Has a 50% chance of resulting in a cursed item.

Curse of the Maggot God

BY GLYNN SEAL

THE GUILD OF SEWERMEN need help finding a lost worker, and will pay 200gp for his return, dead or alive.

The worker is a new sewerman named Hal. A few days ago, he and several other sewermen discovered an ancient chamber (Area 3), revealed by a tunnel collapse following a month's worth of rainfall in the region. Against the advice of his foreman, Hal went inside to take a look. Shortly after, his terrified screams were heard and the rest of the sewermen took flight. The sewermen refuse to return, and the guild now seeks the aid of adventurers.

In truth, Hal was taken by the malign priest Malerian and his troglodyte henchmen, and fed to their "Maggot God"—an enormous, bloated maggot residing in deeper caverns. Malerian and the troglodytes dwell in the mosaic-lined chambers beyond the collapse, the cellars of a long-demolished villa. They venerate a god of rot and decay, and believe the abhorrent maggot creature to be an incarnation of their blasphemous deity.

1 square = 5'

Random Happenings (1-IN-6 PER TURN)

SEWERS:

1. A bloated human body
2. 2d10 normal rats swarm
3. 1d3 giant rats
4. A sleeping guild thief
5. A fatberg
6. 1 ochre jelly

VILLA CHAMBERS:

1. 1d2 troglodytes patrol
2. 1 troglodyte sleeping
3. Parts of a mosaic crumble to the floor
4. Sewer water seeping into puddles
5. 1 giant leech or 1d3 giant rats
6. 1 carcass crawler (Quisquil from Area 11)

Denizens

MALERIAN THE UNWASHED

A priest of the god of rot and decay, Malerian is a human with a grubby face, matted hair, unpleasant odour, and wide starry eyes. His armour and clothing are equally dirty and tattered. He is always accompanied by his pet carcass crawler, Quisquil. Malerian was shunned by his fellow acolytes over his poor hygiene and unusual interest in the decaying dead, even for a member of his morbid faith. Banished to the marshes, he felt himself drawn to the tunnel leading to the lair of the thing he came to call the Maggot God (Area 19). He believed it to be an incarnation of his deity, and was overcome with sycophancy. Having attracted a like-minded tribe of troglodytes to assist him, he now nourishes his god with dead animal carcasses and captured victims.

THE MAGGOT GOD

A giant, pulsating bloated maggot, 10' in diameter and over 60' long. It is in no way a deity or related to a deity, but it's clear that something arcane in nature has caused it to grow to such proportions.

TROGLODYTE MAGGOT CULTISTS

Servants of Malerian and cultists of the Maggot God. Each symbiotically hosts 1d6 oversized maggots in its mouth, which wriggle out if it falls in battle. The troglodytes help gather offerings, protect the chambers, and safeguard the Maggot God. The chief of the troglodytes, Mukklah Tuk, is responsible for guarding and feeding the Maggot God. He believes he is the Maggot God's "favourite" and secretly plots to usurp Malerian.

- ▶ Deeper caverns and tunnels are earth with precarious timber supports.

LIGHTING

The only illuminated areas are around Malerian's chambers (Area 8, 10, 11, and 12). They are lit with candles placed in wall niches or on the floor. Malerian replenishes the candles when necessary. He uses a lantern when visiting the Maggot God's cave (Area 19).

DRAG MARKS

A gruesome trail of blood, sewage, and scratches is evident from Area 3 to Area 15, except for an interruption in Area 8 (see map). This is the new route along which offerings gathered from the sewers are taken to Malerian for approval, before being presented to the Maggot God.

Area Descriptions

1. Sewer Entrance

Foetid water 5' deep. Path northward is blocked by a floor-to-ceiling grate. Narrow ledge with alcove containing lever that opens grate.

- Secret door to Area 14: A section of wall that hinges when pushed.

2. Collapsed Section

Loose wall ruddle has collapsed into the sewer, revealing a dark opening 1' above the water level. This is the entrance where Hal was lost.

3. Pillared Hall

Mosaics of sailing scenes. Six pillars carved with waves and galleons. Signs of blood and struggle with drag marks (see general notes) from the sewers heading east to an archway. A foul stench emanates from it.

- Loud noises here: Will alert the troglodytes in Area 4, who will prepare an ambush.

4. Troglodyte North Guardpost

Mosaics of gardening scenes. Waist-high black-glazed vases filled with long-dead flowers. 2 troglodytes (hp: 6, 7) squat on the floor here, sucking decomposed rats.

5. Heroes Hall

Two alabaster statues of a man and a woman dressed like warriors of old.

- Entering the eastern end of the hall: A faint and glitching magic mouth appears and declares: "Intruders turn back or be cursed by the Caecilius family!"

6. Villa Stairwell

Once led up to the villa; now terminates at a bricked-up opening.

- Breaking through: Requires 3 turns with a tool, and leads outdoors to an overgrown, trash-strewn garden in the temple district of the city.

TROGLODYTES

AC 5 [14], HD 2' Att 2 × claw (1d4), 1 × bite (1d4), THACO 18 [+1], MV 120' (40'), SV D12 W13 P14 B15 S16 (2), ML 9, AL Chaotic, XP 25

Hateful: Attempt to kill any creatures they encounter.

Surprise: On a 1–4, due to the ability to change colour to match their surroundings. Lurk by rock walls and await victims.

Nauseating stench: Oils on the skin have a smell that sickens humans and demihumans: SAVE VERSUS POISON or suffer –2 to hit, while in melee with troglodytes.

7. West Wine Cellar

Alcoves filled with rotten wooden trellises containing aged bottles. Glass shards and ancient wine stains on floor. A few small, two-gallon casks (empty) rest against the walls.

- Searching the bottles: One of the bottles of wine is a magically preserved 2,000-year-old red wine (250gp).

8. Pool Room

Mosaics of nobles, bathing and eating in luxuriating poses. Wet floor obscures and interrupts the trail of drag marks (it resumes beyond the southeasterly exit). Three mosaic-lined square pools, 3' deep with low retaining walls, empty and filled with broken masonry.

- Putting liquids in the central pool: Liquids are magically turned into purified water.

9. Troglo-dyte Sleeping Chamber

The doors to this chamber are closed, but the foul stench emanating from it is vile. The room has rendered walls painted white, now streaked with filth. 6 troglodytes (hp: 3, 4, 8, 9, 10, 13—stats on p.23) lay asleep on the floor. The largest cuddles a greasy sack of 500sp, 300gp, and 2 silver bracelets with pearls carved like eyes (275gp each).

11. Malerian's Private Chamber

Rendered walls painted in red ochre. A large crude bed draped with linen and furs (200gp). Malerian sits at a wooden desk strewn with writing and reading clutter and a lit lantern, and also adorned with 6 gold maggot candlesticks (50gp each). His pet carcass crawler, Quisquil is curled drooling in a corner.

- In the desk drawer: 4 flasks of oil and a silver maggot necklace (250gp).

BLACK WIDOW

AC 6 [13], HD 3* (13hp), Att 1 × bite (2d6 + poison), THACO 17 [+2], MV 60' (20') / 120' (40') in webs, SV D12 W13 P14 B15 S16 (2), ML 8, AL Neutral, XP 50

The webs can be destroyed by fire in two rounds. All creatures in a flaming web suffer 1d6 points of damage.

13. Collapsed Room

This chamber is partly collapsed, with heaps of fallen masonry immediately visible. A troglodyte corpse lies crushed beneath a slab, its protruding, rat-chewed legs clearly visible. The troglodytes tread carefully here when dragging Malerian's approved offerings.

14. Secret Sewer Entrance

Hallway dead-ends at a curving wall.

- Secret door to Area 1: A section of wall that hinges when pushed. Malerian and the troglodytes are not aware of its presence.

15. Troglodyte South Guardpost

A foul stench wafts up the approaching corridor from this chamber. 4 troglodytes (hp: 3, 8, 10, 12—stats on p.23) guard here, snacking on dried cockroaches. A collapsed floor in the eastern part of the chamber drops down 50' to Area 17. A rickety wooden ladder is fixed to the wall allowing access to below.

16. Do Not Disturb

Thick webs, a troglodyte husk, and a black widow spider. Bones of previous victims litter the floor.

- Searching the bones: Among the bones are 300cp, 200sp, 30gp, and 3 gold bracelets formed like wreaths of bay leaves (100gp each).

17. Rank Cave

Offerings to the Maggot God—dead animals and corpulent bodies fished from the sewers—are dragged and dropped into this cave. The stench is almost unbearable. The corpses are alive with maggots.

- Searching the remains: Amongst the putrid slop can be found 230gp and 322sp.

18. Mukklah Tuk's Cave

The chief of the troglodytes, Mukklah Tuk and 2 troglodytes (hp: 6, 11—stats on p.23) are stationed here, mumbling litanies praising the Maggot God.

19. Maggot God's Cave

A natural earthen cave, stiflingly humid. The half-chewed remains of Hal the sewer-man, still wearing his sewerman's mask, are slumped against a wall. The Maggot God dominates the chamber, lying curled in contented digestion. A 50' rising ledge, out of reach of the Maggot God, leads to a tunnel exit.

- Approaching Hal: The Maggot God will attempt to eat anyone that gets near to Hal unless they are wearing the silver maggot necklace (see Area 11).
- If there is a confrontation here: The troglodytes in Area 18 will rush to the aid of the Maggot God.
- Following the tunnel: The tunnel leads out of the city to the boggy marsh where Malerian and the troglodytes egress the chambers.

MUKKLAH TUK

The chief of the troglodytes, Mukklah Tuk guards and feeds the Maggot God. His skin is slick with orange slime and he is blessed with a cluster of maggots writhing in one eye socket.

Troglodyte abilities: as normal troglodytes.

Items: 210gp, antique crystal decanter stolen from Malerian's private chamber worth 160gp.

MAGGOT GOD

A giant, pulsating, bloated maggot, 10' in diameter and 60' long. Its corpse-white, rubbery flesh is shot through with webs of red and green blood vessels.

AC 9 [10], HD 8* (41hp), Att 1 × bite (1d8 + swallow whole), THACO 12 [+7], MV 15' (5'), SV D10 W11 P12 B13 S14 (4), ML 12, AL Neutral, XP 1,200

Swallow whole: On an attack roll of 18–20, it swallows a human-sized or smaller target. Inside the maggot's belly: suffer 1d8 damage per round (until the Maggot God dies); may attack with sharp weapons at –4 to hit; body digested in 6 turns after death.

Death deluge: When the Maggot God reaches 0 hit points, its body ruptures, spewing forth its thick creamy innards in a torrent. All creatures within a 20' radius must SAVE VERSUS BREATH or fall over and get washed hard against a wall for 1d6 damage.

The Sunbathers

BY BRAD KERR

THE GOLDEN ASCLEPEION on Fos Imeras Island was once a famous place of healing. Recently, a cult of Lethe, goddess of oblivion, quietly co-opted the temple. They rededicated its purpose to “healing” humankind of its painful burden of memory through monstrous, transformative means. Visitors to the island find themselves unwitting patients, prisoners bound by ignorance and pleasure, incapable of leaving.

The temple is off-limits except for staff and patients. It holds strange horrors but also secrets, treasures, and rewards. PCs will need to tread carefully if they wish to flee this sun-soaked prison.

Fos Imeras

Island Exterior Map

An adventuring party may come here for one or more of these reasons:

- ▶ Missing hero: The champion Orsilochus—the fame of whose heroic exploits is eclipsed only by that of his legendary mane of flowing black curls—recently has vanished. He was last known to have traveled to the island for healing on his magical boat, The Eleftheria.
- ▶ Hired agents: The party has been hired by another Asclepeion to investigate Fos Imeras, as it has not been heard from for months.
- ▶ Unintentional guests: Strange currents have brought the PCs' ship here, or perhaps they have been shipwrecked on the island.

Denizens

PATIENTS

Travelers or shipwrecked sailors, many here unwillingly. Dressed in billowing gray robes, and having relinquished their material goods, they now blissfully sunbathe while their memories are stripped away by the temple's magical nectar (see Area 5). When their minds are finally empty, they're escorted deeper into the temple to prepare for "ascension" (see Area 17).

PHYSICIANS

White-frosted cultists of Lethe called to assist in patients' "healing" journeys before their own ascents into oblivion. Led by the Oracle Sebasteia. Physicians move slowly and speak softly but turn to cudgels when words fail.

THE ORACLE SEBASTEIA

White hair and pale blue eyes. Walks slowly and serenely, never shouts but insists troublemakers go to bed at once. Uses spells to blind and bind foes but neither defends herself nor displays any sense of pain or emotion. Even when broken and bloodied, sighs "I don't see how this is helping." "Is this truly the oblivion you seek?" Senses when the orb (Area 21) is in danger.

NANNIES

Harpies disguised as orderlies, hunched in oversized cloaks, serving as Sebasteia's muscle. Use their charm ability to send wandering patients back to the beach. Fly to raid nearby islands for supplies.

PURIFIED ONES

"Cured" humans, bathed in the tears of Lethe. Blind, mindless, twitching human-shaped organisms without orifices who smash their bodies into anything that vibrates.

LIONS

Trained mascots of the cultists, serving as guard animals. One of these, a pure-white creature, always accompanies Sebasteia as protector.

ORDER OF BATTLE

Temple denizens who fail morale checks in combat will attempt to flee to Area 16, directing any harpies there to attack the party, and warning any other staff they encounter. Protracted battle may eventually attract the entire temple staff: 16 physicians, 13 nannies, plus Sebasteia and her lion.

TERRAIN

Fos Imeras is lined with rocky shores, apart from two beaches of pristine white sand where ships can land. The interior consists of scrubby grasses with groves of holm oak, wild olive, and mastic, lousy with rabbits and buzzing with cicadas.

DOCKED SHIPS

Should the party linger overnight on the island, a group of 3 nannies (hp: 11, 10, 7—stats on p.32) carrying flasks of oil and burning torches in their talons fly to any ships docked nearby and attempt to set fire to them. If successful, the only means of escape is via The Eleftheria, interred in its condensed rudder form within the vault of Area 14.

A character who saves is unaffected for the rest of the encounter. Killing the harpies breaks the charm.
Magic resistance: +2 bonus to all saves.

1. Main Beach

Shimmering white sands and sun-bleached tents. Thatches of gnarled mastic and wild olive trees. 12 patients, gray-robed, blister-skinned, and ragged, lay on the sand and stare blissfully at the sea. 4 physicians (hp: 6, 4, 3, 1) feed them olives, figs, and the temple's sweet magical nectar (see Area 5). 1 nanny (hp: 13) supervises from afar.

- Approaching: Physicians welcome PCs, offering them food and the healing Nectar of Lethe (see Area 5).
- Speaking to the patients: Roll 1d6 on the Rumors table (p.33).

Rumors

d6	Patient	Rumor
1	Shepherd	"Don't look at the nannies—they're medusas!"
2	Playwright	"If the Maenads had but partaken of Lethe's Nectar, Pen-theus may yet have lived. In short: you should try some!"
3	Thief	"My brother used to harass this bard all the time. It was hilarious. He swore there was this cave we could hide out in but he's crazy. I wonder whatever happened to him."
4	Crone	"This place is paradise. I didn't know how much I needed this."
5	Missing Princess	(Discreetly) "They're just making us into idiots! The nectar is poison!"
6	Philosopher	"I dream of a cave, with shadows moving on the wall. I imagine these are shadows of perfect objects I can-not directly see. Then the shadows start...growling and snapping?"

3. Golden Asclepeion

A brilliant temple covered in gold leaf, its tallest tower visible from a great distance. Its main entrance is flanked by two towers. The structure extends from the base of a granite cliffside, and appears to continue underground into the cliff. 1 nanny (hp: 17—stats on p.32) patrols the perimeter at all times.

The Golden Asclepeion

Temple Interior Map

1 square = 5'

Random Happenings (1-IN-6 PER TURN)

1. A hungry lion.
2. 1d3 nannies on patrol.
3. 1d3+1 physicians escorting a dazed sailor somewhere.
4. A lost sailor suddenly recalls an important memory and won't stop screaming
5. Echoes of wet footsteps on stone; a purified one runs past in the middle distance, too quickly to make out details.
6. The thief Timo (see p.36) reveals herself. Re-roll if already encountered.

General Notes

ENTRANCES / EXITS

Besides the main entrance in Area 4 an intrepid party can enter and exit the temple at these additional locations, though they may be spotted by nannies or physicians outside:

- ▶ Area 8: Open windows at top of 3 story tower (45' climb).
- ▶ Area 11: Cave entrance onto beach.
- ▶ Area 12: Open skylight in dome (30' climb to roof, 30' drop into Area 12).
- ▶ Area 16: Unlocked grating in tower roof (30' climb).
- ▶ Roof: 30' climb from ground level or a 10' climb down from the cliffs behind the temple. The entrances into Areas 8, 12, and 16 (see above) can be accessed from the roof.

GENERAL CONSTRUCTION

Slabs of hewn white stone, 15' ceilings, wooden doors. Frescoes depict narratives of gods, wars, and healers. Windows are barred (except in Area 8), but can be seen through.

LIGHTING

By day, Areas 4–12 and Area 16 are naturally lit by windows or other openings. By night, they are partially lit by oil lamps set near door frames. Areas 13, 17, and 20 are lit with oil lamps. All other areas are unlit.

Interior Area Descriptions

5. Main Sanctuary

Grand, two-story chamber. At the far end is a gargantuan marble statue, reaching to the ceiling, depicting a shrouded woman, face in hands. Weeps actual tears which collect in a fountain basin: the Nectar of Lethe. Gentle music drifts from Area 6.

- Looking in the basin: Offerings fill the basin: 406gp submerged in the nectar.
- Secret door to 16: Claw marks on the wall lead to an otherwise unobtrusive latch that opens a door in the stone.

7. Nursery

A nursery for patients with infantile tendencies. Wooden wheeled horses, clay dolls, a human-sized purple stuffed lamb.

8. Bunks

A tower, 3 stories with ladders, lined with beds and 10 patients (stats on p.36) resting here. Seabreeze from open windows at the top floor breaks up the smell of sweating human bodies. 1 nanny (hp: 14—stats on p.32) sits in a tall ladder-chair at the room's center, cooing lullabies.

- Entering at ground level: Adventurers are immediately shushed by the nanny, and are admonished that everyone should be sleeping.
- Defying the nanny: If shushed PCs do not immediately depart through the entrance by which they came, the nanny attacks, and uses her charm ability to command patients to hurl themselves from their beds onto intruders (1d3 patients per round, THACO 17 [+2], 2d6 damage, kills patient).

NECTAR OF LETHE

Nectar manifested from the statue of Lethe, who grieves for all humanity.

Drinking: SAVE VERSUS SPELLS or become placid and blissful (lose 1d4 INT for 1d6 hours, to a minimum of 3).

Bathing in: Same effect as drinking, except if bather's INT is reduced below 3, they begin transforming into a purified one.

AC 9 [10], HD 7 (32hp), Att 1 × fists (1d2+1), THACO 14 [+5], MV 120' (40'), SV D8 W9 P10 B10 S12 (Fighter 7), ML 6, AL Lawful, XP 450

Knowledge: His memory of his ship remains vague.

9. Changing Room

Clean towels, cedar benches, clothes hung on hooks.

- Searching the clothes: Reveals several sets of patients' robes, a forgotten physician robe, and a cudgel (1d6 damage).

10. Baths

Candle-lit. Geothermically-warmed brown water bubbles up from below. 6 patients (stats on p.36) lounge here, basking in herb-scented steam; one of them—with long, curly black hair—is the missing hero, Orsilochus. Among the patients also bathes 1 lion (hp: 19).

- Heading towards Area 11: Causes the lion to roar and attack.

11. Lion Cave

Dry rocky shelves host piles of furs, bones, and offal. A cave mouth opens onto the beach. 2 lions (hp: 25, 24) pick at the body of a thief. Docile from a heavy meal.

- Provoking the lions: Either searching the refuse or entering the cave mouth provokes warning growls from the lions; if unheeded, they attack.
- Among the refuse: A purple plumed hat belonging to Chairis in Area 6, a potion of invisibility, lockpicks, and 6 sapphires (50gp each)

12. Gymnasium

A cavernous, two-story gymnasium. Open skylights in the domed roof (30' up) admit sunlight and the sound of surf. A balcony overlooks from the north. Thatched mats, stone lifting-weights. 3 physicians (hp: 6, 3, 2—stats on p.36) supervise 8 patients (stats on p.36) who seek purification via mindless physical fitness. Inside a wrestling circle crouches Kleostratos. Next to the circle lie 3 dead bodies.

- Oracle Sebasteia: 3-in-6 chance that she calmly supervises from her balcony (see Area 20).

13. Meditation Path

Hypnotic black and white patterns line the walls. Shallow grooves made by incessant walking are worn into a track. Oil lamps at regular intervals provide light. 5 patients (stats on p.36) sleepily lope past, non-responsive.

- Walking more than 10' with open eyes: Save versus spells or compelled to walk the track counterclockwise in a trance for 1d6 turns.
- Secret door to 14: Pressing hard on the inner south wall opens a door to Area 14.

14. Vault

Dry, dark, musty. Thick stone walls. Scattered on the floor is treasure requisitioned from patients: 6,256gp, a mace +2, and The Rudder of The Eleftheria.

KLEOSTRATOS

Once a famous wrestler (5th level fighter), now in thrall to Lethe. Dourly awaits challengers in the circle.

AC 9 [10], HD 5 (32hp), Att 1
× fists (1d2+1), THACO 14 [+5],
MV 120' (40'), SV D8 W9 P10
B10 S12 (Fighter 5), ML 6, AL
Lawful, XP 450

Wrestling: Both participants inflict subdual damage, though Kleostratos strangles and kills anyone he defeats, to the silent delight of the attending staff.
If defeated: He comes to his senses. Filled with guilt, he attempts to slay any physicians present (though he cannot climb the balcony) and will be willing to join the party.

RUDDER OF THE ELEFThERIA

This is the rudder of Orsilochus's (see Area 10) magic ship, though he no longer remembers how it works. Made of metal, it has an inscription engraved on one side:

*A villain's rib, a pound of gold
Something purple, something old
By blade or guile thy trophies won
Sink them all then sail anon*

Transform to ship: If objects matching those in the inscription are offered to the sea, the rudder undergoes a wondrous transformation into The Eleftheria: a magic small sailing ship swifter than any harpy's wings.

Duration: The ship collapses into its rudder form upon reaching its destination, requiring more offerings to remanifest it.

15. Black Labyrinth

Entirely cloaked in magical darkness. A twisting walkway, lacking any handrails, makes its way over a 20' deep pit. 1 nanny (hp: 10—stats on p.32) sits within the pit, snacking on a runaway.

- Darkness source: A darkness lantern “shines” from a crook mounted 10' above the walkway near the center of the room.

16. Aviary

The Comet that Time Forgot

BY D. M. WILSON & SARAH BRUNT

IN A TIME BEFORE TIME, on a planet stricken by catastrophe, the desperate inhabitants magically forged a precarious lifeboat: a massive crescent of ice and flame, fused together with a ribbon of living earth—a comet, streaking through the void. The comet's inhabitants—representatives of the home world's original, diverse species—planned to remain in this hurtling sanctuary while their world healed, and constructed a magical gate (the Portal of Time and Space) to return them after the crisis ended.

Thousands of years have passed between then and now. The gate's true function is now long forgotten. Fractious infighting is the current state of affairs and the very landscape is dwindling. The adventurers have somehow been teleported to this doomed rock. Here in this pre-historic land, they may discover unimaginable riches—and equally unimaginable peril. Can they escape with their lives from The Comet That Time Forgot?

General Notes

The comet is a crescent-shaped fragment of a primordial planetoid, with an icy head and fiery tail, which both rise as mountainous peaks overlooking a jungle-dominated valley below. These three regions are the comet's Zones.

BLUE ZONE

The head is a massive mound of ice. It melts, shearing off to create snowstorms and hail as the comet moves through space. This zone is home to the neanderthals and white apes (see Denizens).

GREEN ZONE

The land between the comet's poles is a writhing jungle of monstrous lizards and beasts, seemingly sprung forth from the legends of our most ancient ancestors. Among these creatures dwell the lizard men and bird folk (see Denizens).

RED ZONE

A volatile volcano ruptures forth at the tail of the comet. This mephitic region is home to the flame salamanders and the fire giants (see Denizens).

THE CERULEAN SERPENT RIVER

The icy tributary runs from the glaciers at the head of the comet (Hex 1) and snakes its way to the Azure Lagoon (Hex 6) in the center of the comet.

THE BLOOD SUN

An artificial wonder of their past civilization, this mini red star lazily traverses the orange sky. At night, the full unmasked glory of the astral cosmos illuminates the sky so that on clear nights, pale blue silvery light bathes the comet.

Denizens

NEANDERTHALS (HEX 1)

Wise and stubborn, they live in the frozen city at the head of the comet. Often struggle with the fire giants over the comet's dwindling natural resources. Hope to escape through the Portal of Space and Time, prophesied to open at the end of time, but lack the key to it. Many neanderthals (correctly) believe the key is in the possession of the fire giants.

- Enemies: White Dragons, Fire Giants.

WHITE DRAGONS (HEX 3)

Arrived from the depths of space. Jealously guard their territory stolen from neanderthals.

- Enemies: Neanderthals.

WHITE APES (HEX 4)

Peaceful and shy, preyed upon by lizard men.

- Enemies: Lizard Men.

LIZARD MEN (HEX 5)

Cunning and bloodthirsty, they hunt white apes for sacrifices. Jealous of the larger lizard, the green dragon "Maximus the Unrivalled" (in truth, a ruse of the bird folk).

- Enemies: White Apes, "Maximus the Unrivalled".

BIRD FOLK / "MAXIMUS THE UNRIVALED" (HEX 7)

Reclusive and suspicious, they maintain an elaborate ruse collectively masquerading to outsiders as Maximus the Unrivalled, a green dragon. Fearful of the lizard men. Wish to recover a lost artifact from the dragon turtle.

- Enemies: Lizard Men, Dragon Turtle.

DRAGON TURTLE (HEX 8)

Ancient denizen of the Sundered Sea. Holds an artifact lost by bird folk.

- Enemies: Bird Folk.

FLAME SALAMANDERS (HEX 9)

Wish to be left alone. Often battle their hereditary rivals, the fire giants.

- Enemies: Fire Giants.

RED DRAGONS (HEX 11)

Escaped pets of the fire giants.

- Enemies: Fire Giants.

FIRE GIANTS (HEX 12)

Calculating and greedy, they respect only power. Having long ago forgotten the existence of the Portal of Space and Time, they only want to control the comet and its dwindling natural resources. Often struggle with the neanderthals.

- Enemies: Neanderthals, Flame Salamanders, Red Dragons.

Hex Descriptions

BEGINNING THE ADVENTURE

The adventurers start at Hex 1, the Neanderthal City, where they step out of the Portal of Space and Time. Their goal is to escape the Comet.

COUNTDOWN

Some groups might prefer a higher level of tension and dread. The referee may consider having a neanderthal oracle (Hex 1) declare that the end of the world will come in 2 weeks. At that point, what's left of the comet disintegrates, killing any inhabitants left on it.

SANDBOX HEX-CRAWL

This adventure is structured as a traditional hex-crawl, where PCs wander between the hexes on the map, exploring as they wish. Many of the monsters lairing in the hexes have agendas and quests that PCs may choose to assist with, driving further exploration.

FLESHING OUT LAIRS

With the exception of the Fortress of the Fire Giants (Hex 12), monster lairs in the hexes on the map are described only briefly and are not mapped out in great detail. For lairs that PCs delve into, the referee may wish to sketch out a map and possibly add extra details.

1. Neanderthal City (Blue Zone)

A metropolis of ice and gray stone, carved into a mountain surrounded by glaciers. Much of it is unoccupied.

- ▶ Inhabitants: The once grand city's population has dwindled over centuries of disaster and invasion to around 350 neanderthals. They are led by Initiator Diokon (6 HD), whose goal is to avoid a bloody battle with the fire giants (see Hex 12).
- ▶ The Portal of Time and Space: A 20' tall stone arch, etched in runes, looms in the city center. A skull-shaped keyhole is set in its base. Many neanderthals (correctly) believe the key is in the possession of the fire giants (see Hex 12).
- ▶ Inserting the key: Activates the Portal, granting passage to any specified world.
- ▶ Services: Arete the Crafty constructs and sells saber-tooth spears (2d4 damage, 5gp) and bone armor (AC 6 [13], 30gp).
- ▶ Quest—Save the Princess: Recently, the fire giant Lord Uther (see Hex 12) kidnapped Diokon's daughter, Princess Kallisto, demanding the neanderthals' fealty in exchange for her return. Diokon offers 10,000gp as reward for her rescue.
- ▶ Quest—Cleanse the Necropolis: A pair of white dragons has taken residence in the neanderthals' holy necropolis (see Hex 3). Should the PCs purge the catacombs of this draconic menace, the neanderthals reward them with food, shelter, one potion of healing for each PC, and the services of Gaios the Pathfinder.

2. The Frozen Wastes (Blue Zone)

A vast, rugged expanse of swirling snow.

- ▶ Traversing the hex: Unless accompanied by Gaios (see Hex 1), the party has a 3-in-4 chance of spending an entire day wandering here, and a 3-in-6 chance of encounter.

Abandoned catacombs of the neanderthals, amid a barren expanse of boulders and frozen, skeletal trees. Great stone corridors with ornate carvings and runes, marked by occasional icicle clusters and snow drifts. The sepulchral corridors converge on a massive, ice-covered cavern.

Treehouses in the snow-covered evergreen forest. The 43 white apes that live here are generous and peaceful when not threatened.

- ▶ Services: One-Who-Laughs makes and barter lava melon elixirs (treat as potion of healing). He particularly likes seashells from the Sundered Sea (Hex 8), and asks 100 seashells per elixir.
- ▶ Quest—The Lost Leader: The village's alpha, One-Who-Knows, has been captured by the lizard men (Hex 5). The villagers beg for the PCs' help in rescuing him, offering as a reward a staff of striking left behind by the wizard who granted them speech.
- ▶ Quest—Sacred Water: The apes need the water of the Azure Lagoon (Hex 6) to create their elixirs. If the adventurers can bring them 10 waterskins from the lagoon, acolyte One-Who-Learns agrees to join the party for 1d6+2 days before returning to the village.

At the center of the ruins is a forbidding, moss-covered temple, its once-impressive done now collapsed. The ruins are home to 50 lizard men, who frequently raid White Ape Village (Hex 4) for sacrifices to their couatl god. They are led by the unusually large and intelligent Lizard King.

- Temple sanctuary: A silver and lapis lazuli idol of a couatl (1,200gp) presides over a bloody altar. Both are flanked by massive urns of gold coins (28,000gp).
- Temple prison cells: A chamber behind the idol is lined with cells; in one of them is the captured white ape alpha, One-Who-Knows (see Hex 4), soon to be sacrificed at the altar.
- Quest—Rival Lizard: The lizard men are jealous of Maximus the Unrivaled, the green dragon they believe inhabits the woods in Hex 7. (Unknown to them, “Maximus” is actually the bird folk.) 12. Volcano Fortress of the Fire Giants (Red Zone)

Here, at the very edge of the comet's burning tail, stands a 150' tall volcano. At its foot sits a settlement, more armed camp than village. A hazardous, switchback path leads from an ash field near the camp to the volcano's rim, about which is built a foreboding, obsidian fortress. The inside of the fortress gives way to the molten center of the volcano.

- Inhabitants: 18 fire giants live in the camp, along with 8 hellhounds. The fortress is home to 7 fire giants, including their king, Lord Uther, and his family and servants, and forgemaster Asmodai, an Azer.
- Visiting the camp: Reaction to visitors may range from surly indifference to hostility. The residents attack any party accompanied by members of the neanderthal or flame salamander factions.
- Visiting the fortress: See map and locations on p.61.
- Quest—Errant Dragons: Depending on their interactions with the giants, the party may gain an audience with Lord Uther (Area 12.8). He states that if the party can bring his escaped pet dragons to heel (see Hex 11), or at the very least recover the ruby salamander idol they stole from him, he "may consider" releasing Princess Kallisto to them.

12.1 — FORTRESS GATEWAY

The switchback path ends at a gatehouse, where two great stone towers flank the tusked skull of a titanic, mammoth-like creature. In place of the skull's mouth are two 30' tall stone doors, requiring a combined STR of 44 to open. 2 fire giants (hp: 46, 38) and 4 hellhounds (hp: 17, 17, 13, 10) stand watch here in 3 hour shifts; during the changing of the guard, the gate sits unwatched for 2 turns while the giants and hounds return to the village and are replaced by a new group.

12.2 — LAVA CRATER

The red lit center of the fortress is a massive pool of simmering lava (4d10 damage per round of immersion), ringed by a polished basalt walkway. At the center of the pool is an igneous island, topped by a 3 story stone tower (12.9). 20' tall doors of charred wood lead to side chambers, while a massive archway leads to 12.8.

12.3 — HIDDEN TRAP DOOR

Dumps victim into 12.2.

12.4 — THANES' QUARTERS

A spartan room decked with militaristic banners. Furnished with two giant beds, racks of weapons, and two chests. The Thanes, Cenhelm (hp: 59) and Wulfwynn (hp: 48), protect their lord and carry out his orders ruthlessly. Both have ambitions for supreme leadership and neither trusts the other. Each chest contains 5,000gp; Wulfwynn's is trapped with a needle (save vs poison or die).

12.5 — ROYAL BEDROOM

Amongst luxurious, giant-sized furnishings reside the wives of Uther: Eadburg (hp: 64), Mildthryth (hp: 50), and Wynnflaed (hp: 48). Each has her own reasons for wanting to betray Uther.

12.6 — ASMODAI'S FORGE

A channel of lava heats an elaborate forge. The Azer dwarf Asmodai lives here in his workshop, his bed a mound of embers. The last of his kind, he is a master blacksmith indentured in service to Lord Uther. He toils here, depressed and aloof. He wants nothing more than to escape.

ASMODAI

A bronze-skinned dwarf, with hair and beard of writhing flame.

AC 2 [17], HD 5+4 (26hp), Att 1 × hammer (1d6+3), 1 × flaming hair beard (1d6), THACO 14 [+5], MV 60' (20'), SV D10 W11 P12 B13 S14 (5), ML 10, AL Neutral, XP 225

LORD UTHER

AC 4 [15], HD 15 (80hp), Att 1 × weapon (5d6+2) or 1 × boulder (3d6), THACO 8 [+11], MV 120' (40'), SV D4 W5 P6 B5 S8 (15), ML 9, AL Chaotic, XP 1,350

Weapons: A gargantuan war hammer and Fyrbrynge, a flaming two-handed sword +2 (human-sized, wielded like a dagger).

Boulder throwing: Up to 200'.

Fire immunity: Unharmed by fire.

Possessions: Uther wears a crown of obsidian shards and fiery rubies (25,000gp) and the Key of Space and Time (Hex 1) as a pendant around his neck.

12.7 — PRINCE'S BEDROOM

Walls lined with gigantic tomes of ancient lore. Seated at a desk is a bespectacled, under-sized (12' tall) fire giant: Ethelred (hp: 20), the perpetually disappointing son of Uther. He is "more interested in being a scholar than a conqueror", and may speak with amicable intruders. Unlike his family, he knows about the Portal of Time and Space (Hex 1), and seeks to exit this world and travel the cosmos.

12.8 — LORD UTHER'S THRONE ROOM

Gargantuan vaulted hall, lit by rivulets of lava running through the floor. A massive open window overlooks the vastness of space. Upon a cyclopean throne of basalt reclines Lord Uther. Beside the throne is a 8' tall stone chest, locked (containing 400,000gp and a humanoid-sized ring of regeneration). A secret stone door hidden behind the throne leads outside (12.10).

12.9 — PRISON TOWER

A stone walkway crosses the lava to a jagged 3 story tower upon an island. At the very top, the neanderthal Princess Kallisto (see Hex 1) is imprisoned in a locked bedroom overlooking the lava crater. Kallisto has realized that the pendant around Uther's neck is the same skull shape as the keyhole in the Portal of Time and Space (Hex 1). She insists that the party steal it.

12.10 — SECRET EGRESS

A narrow lava tube tunnel leads from the throne room (12.8) to a treacherous ledge overlooking the void of space.
